

NATIONAL RURAL HEALTH ASSOCIATION

WHO WE ARE

The National Rural Health Association (NRHA) is a non-profit membership organization with more than 21,000 members nationwide that provides leadership on rural health issues. Our membership includes nearly every component of rural America's health care, including rural community hospitals, critical access hospitals, clinics, long-term care, providers, and patients.

WHAT WE DO

NRHA serves rural communities by advancing rural health issues and seeking to solve rural health care challenges. NRHA helps rural citizens build, maintain, and improve the institutions to meet their health care needs by providing research, education, communication, and advocacy support.

GOVERNMENT AFFAIRS

Serves as the primary resource to elected officials, policy leaders, and other organizations on the challenges and opportunities facing rural patients and providers.

PROGRAM SERVICES

Provides relevant and timely information and best practices to all people who care about the health of rural America through workshops, conferences, technical assistance, and further outreach efforts.

MEMBER SERVICES

Connects members with a wealth of resources, including the greatest resource of all: people who dedicate their lives to rural health.

RURAL HEALTH EQUITY

Ensuring rural residents have the same opportunities to access care as urban and suburban counterparts, as well as among rural populations

WORKFORCE

Assisting rural communities by testing new models of team-based care, reforming rural Graduate Medical Education, and supporting workforce programs

HOSPITAL CLOSURE CRISIS

Testing new payments models of care, while proving stabilizing relief for rural providers across the safety net
